Citizenship test. High scores for new arrivals defy recent changes requiring longer stays

The longer an immigrant is in Canada, the more likely they are to fail their citizenship test, a government report says.

According to the internal Immigration Department report, applicants who have been in Canada fewer than five years consistently have the highest success rates on the mandatory knowledge test, compared to their counterparts who have been here much longer.

The findings fly in the face of the Conservative government, which in February tabled a series of sweeping citizenship changes that include raising the required length of residency to four out of six years from the current three out of four.

"Does passing the test make you more Canadian? Or is it the amount of time spent in Canada that makes you more Canadian?" asked Vancouver immigration lawyer Steven Meurrens, who obtained the report via Access to Information request.

"You could be a good Canadian but not a strong history major."

Reasoning

"That's the irony — people who want it do it quickly and are more motivated."

Vancouver immigration lawyer Steven Meurrens, who obtained the report.

Based on two immigration databases, the report — marked "confidential" — said pass rates dropped significantly from 83 per cent in 2011 to 72.6 per cent in 2012, after the government introduced new test questions and raised the pass mark from 60 per cent to 75 per cent.

More than 80 per cent of immigrants applied for citizenship within the first five years of permanent residency, and the group had a pass rate above 83 per cent — compared to the low 70s among those who have been in Canada for at least 10 years.

In recent years, Citizenship and Immigration Canada has also raised the bar of the language-proficiency requirement for applicants between 18 and 54 by demanding approved language test results, completion of academic studies in English or French, or government language programs.

While more than half of all citizenship applicants live in Ontario, the province's pass rate was only around the national average, with Nova Scotia and New Brunswick consistently topping the chart in the high 80s and low 90s.

The number of rejected applicants has also remained consistent, averaging 2,308 per quarter.

Flunking the citizenship test accounted for 65 per cent of all refused cases, followed by failing the language requirement (24 per cent) and not meeting the residence obligation (6.6 per cent). The rest were rejected on criminality and security grounds.

Top-scoring nations

The report also found immigrants from South Korea and China led the rest of the pack in passing the citizenship test, averaging 90 per cent and 88 per cent respectively.

- In contrast, those from Sri Lanka and Vietnam had the lowest pass rates, averaging just 70 per cent and 67 per cent.

ROCKY ROAD AHEAD, BUT CHEFS KEEP ON TRUCKIN'

Ahmed Duale, owner and operator of Kal and Mooy, a new food truck opening this weekend, celebrates on Thursday after getting one of the new permits. The Somalian-Canadian is kicking hot dogs to the curb and bringing chicken samosas, spicy rice and sabaya (think shawarma) to Toronto streets. However, he first had to shell out $5,000 and will need to stay 50 metres from any restaurant — restrictions not all food-truck operators are willing to follow.

Tory's plan is to support First Gulf

Job creation?
Mayoral candidate says development would lead to 70,000 positions; Chow calls announcement 'empty'

A John Tory event billed as an announcement to create 70,000 jobs saw the mayoral candidate supporting an already proposed major development in the East Don Lands.

Tory claimed he would "lead a new business hub" at the east-end site currently being developed by First Gulf Corp. — which itself put the number of possible jobs as high as 70,000.

"It stands as a strategic piece of land that has the potential to create thousands of new jobs," Tory said Thursday at Mountain View Coffee on Logan Avenue, adding he would form a "unique" partnership with developers.

The First Gulf development could only proceed if council, where the mayor has one vote, chooses to realign the east portion of the Gardiner Expressway, which the developer raised at the public works committee in March.

That "hybrid" plan, as it has become known, is currently being studied by city staff and is expected to return to the public works committee in February.

First Gulf, part of the Great Gulf Group, purchased the 11-hectare Unilever Canada site in 2012. A plan is already in place to transform 24 hectares in the Port Lands into commercial space at a cost of $10 billion.

When asked how long it would take to realize 70,000 new jobs, and whether it could be done in his first term, Tory did not provide specific targets.

"We're not talking about jobs that would exist on Day 1," he said. "I think we're looking at quite a few years."

The city saw the growth of nearly 110,000 jobs over the last 10 years — 32,000 between 2012 and March 2014 — according to the 2013 employment survey. Opposing mayoral candidate Olivia Chow criticized what she called an "empty" announcement in a release Thursday.

"There is almost nothing new," the release said. Thursday marked the first time Tory stated his support of the hybrid plan. Karen Stintz was the first to voice support for studying that option. Chow has also expressed support.

Stintz said it's disingenuous for Tory to claim he is creating jobs.

"He's not creating any jobs. And it'll be if we can get the hybrid, reconfigure the Gardiner, then it opens up an employment opportunity," she said.

A 'bigoted' mayor

Rob Ford is a "misogynistic, bigoted, homophobic," mayoral candidate, Karen Stintz told a gathering of businesswomen on Thursday.

Stintz's words are the strongest used to date by any of Ford's primary rivals. Her comments came soon after she spoke favourably of Ford's policy record.

Toronto police board to review paid-duty system

The Toronto Police Services Board voted for a sweeping review of the paid-duty system Thursday after board members challenged the practice and the $26.1 million that off-duty cops collected moonlighting last year.

Chief Bill Blair also shocked the monthly meeting by announcing an internal investigation into remarks made by a board member.

"Coun. (Mike) Del Grande made a number of very, very serious allegations, including allegations that, if proven true, are criminal in nature," Blair said to stunned silence in the auditorium at police headquarters.

Blair has asked the force's professional standards branch to investigate Del Grande's comments about paid-duty police officers allegedly demanding "more money or give us food," which could be considered extortion.

Quoted

"Organizers of those two events, they would go nuts that I was saying this, but they were afraid."

Coun. Mike Del Grande, on organizers of the Armenian and rib festivals being intimidated by paid-duty officers

Del Grande, one of three city councillors on the civilian oversight board, made several impassioned and animated speeches Thursday about the "exorbitant" amount of money cops earn in their spare time.

Del Grande talked about two community charity events, which he called the Armenian and rib festivals. He said organizers complained that Toronto police dictated the number of paid-duty officers they would require and to "add insult to injury ... there was an expectation, not said directly, but an expectation that there were going to be free tickets for the ribs and there's going to be free tickets to eat at the Armenian festival."

At the end of Thursday's meeting, Blair told reporters he will speak to Del Grande and community groups "about their experience."

Putting foreign temp workers on the map

NTFW.ca. New site lists businesses that have been granted permission to use controversial employment program

JESSICA SMITH CROSS
jessica.smithcross@metronews.ca

Toronto restaurants, corporations big and small, law firms, strip joints, public institutions and charities — they're all on a new website that shows employers that have received permission from the government to hire temporary foreign workers.

Created by Vancouverite Rohana Rezel, NTFW.ca, which launched a map of Toronto this week, gives Torontonians the first easy way to look up employers and find out whether they've been approved to hire a temporary foreign worker.

The idea for the site came because Rezel saw on social media that people wanted to boycott companies that use TFWs, but were unable to find out which companies do.

"Right now, a lot of Canadians do feel like the TFW program is nothing but a mass violation of Canadian workers' rights and the rights of the people who are brought in from abroad," Rezel said.

The temporary foreign worker program recently came under fire amid reports of abuse. In response, Minister of Employment and Social Development Jason Kenney issued a temporary moratorium preventing the food-service industry from using the program.

Torontonians who visit NTFW.ca may be surprised at the reach of the program: There are nearly 1,400 local employers named on the site, but the data is far from complete. Rezel's list of employers, obtained via access-to-information law, shows only those businesses that received approval between June 2010 and June 2012. Rezel has not yet received an updated list, he said.

Moreover, the site does not say whether the businesses actually went through with hiring the foreign workers they obtained permission to hire. Without that information, the site's users have no way of knowing how and which business might be abusing the program. Rezel said that without more transparency and improved public oversight of the program, the public will remain in the dark.

As a result of the attention NTFW.ca has received, Rezel has received some hate mail.

"They call me an anti-immigrant, white-supremacist Nazi," he said. "But no — I'm an immigrant myself. I came here six years ago from Sri Lanka. I have the backing of the immigrant community because they are the hardest hit when it comes to trying to get a job in a depressed job market."

At a recent conference on North American trade in Ottawa, Kenney said most temporary foreign workers are in highly skilled, well-paying jobs, but "in the public imagination, temporary foreign workers are people from developing countries working at low-skill jobs in the service industry, and perhaps on farms."

"It has now become a pejorative expression that effectively refers to any work permit granted to any foreign national coming to Canada for any reason," said Kenney.

Rezel plans to make NTFW.ca "self-sustaining" by allowing companies to pay $20 to be on a list of "Patriotic" employers who haven't sought permission to hire TFWs, but no Toronto businesses have done so yet.

In their own words

Why some are using the program

Metro contacted businesses and organizations and asked why they employ temporary foreign workers.

Amnesty International
Spokesperson Elizabeth Berton-Hunter said the charity used the TFW process to bring an experienced senior Amnesty employee to Canada for a year-and-a-half contract.

"It's not that we're exploiting anyone or putting them through any serious hardships," she said.

House Of Lancaster 2
The strip club used the program to hire dancers until the program's rules were changed in 2012.

"This is a strip club and two years ago they stopped foreign workers coming to Canada with regards to exotic entertainers," said David Hanson, the club's manager.

Tim Hudak. Some worry pledge to cut 100K jobs could lead to health crisis

Fourteen years ago, a provincial government bent on cost-cutting and privatization contributed to a deadly water-borne disaster that unfolded over the Victoria Day long weekend — one that Ontario taxpayers are still paying for.

Now, a new would-be Progressive Conservative premier, Tim Hudak, is pledging to slash 100,000 public-sector jobs — cuts far deeper than those that paved the way for the Walkerton, Ont., tragedy in May 2000.

Some worry history could be repeating itself.

"It can happen again," Walkerton resident Phil Englishman said of the public health crisis.

"(Cuts) can lead to another tragedy in other areas of the province — it doesn't have to be just water."

That message was not lost on Liberal Premier Kathleen Wynne, who took her election campaign to the midwestern Ontario town of 5,000 on Thursday to make that point.

Speaking at the Walkerton Clean Water Centre, built following the disaster as a water-quality training and research facility, Wynne took aim at Hudak's promised cuts.

"We need to learn from, and avoid returning to, the mistakes of Ontario's past," Wynne said.

Some worry Tim Hudak's proposed cutting of 100,000 public-sector jobs could lead to another disaster like that which engulfed Walkerton, Ont., in 2000. THE CANADIAN PRESS

The E. coli outbreak that engulfed Walkerton killed seven people. A judicial inquiry faulted two brothers in charge of the water for falsifying records and failing to maintain proper disinfectant levels. However, the inquiry also found the cost-cutting government of former Tory premier Mike Harris contributed to the tragedy by privatizing water testing and axing Ministry of Environment jobs.

Hudak has said he wouldn't cut jobs that put people at risk.

LEARNING, ADAPTING, CHANGING ARE KEYS TO TTC'S FUTURE

ANDY BYFORD
CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

This week, the TTC hosted the annual meeting of the Nova Group of metros.

Nova is an international family of 16 mid-sized subway systems from around the world that share best practices and associated data, to enable members to improve their individual and collective performance.

It is my honour and privilege to be the Chair of Nova this year and it was good to be able to showcase what the TTC does best, namely delivery of service to 1.7 million daily customers on one of the world's leading examples of a multi-modal integrated, accessible transit network (bus, streetcar, subway, paratransit).

Facilitated by Imperial College in London, the Group reviewed a suite of key performance indicators, including such measures as the relative efficiency of each subway system against its comparators, operational performance, and safety and security.

The TTC scores very high in comparison to other world metros (subways) in terms of the cost of its operations and the efficiency of its workforce. It also scores very well in terms of the frequency of its service at all times of the day and night. Conversely, the number of operational delays is relatively high compared to our counterparts and is an area that we are aware of and continue to address.

The good news is that the 100-plus initiatives contained within the TTC's Five-Year Corporate Plan are targeted at precisely those areas where the TTC needs to improve.

Introduction of new trains, upgraded signalling and modernized work practices will deliver a subway fit for the future. Add to that our all-out focus on customer service and we will progressively get the TTC back to being at the forefront of world transit systems.

Your feedback is important

Along with the conference in Toronto this week, Nova is conducting a subway customer satisfaction survey in several transit systems throughout the world and will then compare results to share best practices.

All TTC customers are invited to take the survey at http://www.ttc.ca/TTC_Surveys/index.jsp. We want your feedback on your subway experience — about getting information, about frequency, payment, station conditions, and more.

Your information and responses will remain confidential and will not be used for any other purpose. We appreciate your feedback as we work to make the TTC a transit system that makes Toronto proud.

REMINDER: TTC TRACK WORK CLOSES QUEEN AND VICTORIA, QUEEN AND LESLIE

The replacement of an 80-year-old watermain and installation of a connection track at the corner of Leslie St. and Queen St. E. to the Leslie Barns, as well as track and switch replacement at Victoria St. and Queen St. E. means significant streetcar diversions are in effect for the 501/301 and 502/503 services. Go to ttc.ca for details about service changes.

The City of Toronto and TTC are making major investments in infrastructure to ensure transit and key City services remain in a state of good repair. During this construction period, please support local businesses like those in Leslieville. The intersection at Leslie St. is scheduled to re-open on June 21 and at Victoria St. on May 31.

2/3 anglo-Canucks on social media: Poll

Canadian social media poll. Over three in five social media users said they used a smartphone to read or post

While the number of Canadians using social media appears to be edging up gradually toward a possible plateau, mobile growth is strong, according to a new report.

Almost two-thirds of the 4,009 anglophone Canadians polled by telephone late last year for the Media Technology Monitor said they had used social media in the past month, while about one in four said they avoided social networking, and 11 per cent said they did not even use the Internet.

Of the Internet users, 71 per cent said they were active social media users, up just three percentage points from 2012.

But there was significant growth in the number of respondents using a mobile device to access social networks.

Just over three in five social media users said they used a smartphone to read or post in the past month, up by 20 per cent from the previous year.

And about one in three said they used a tablet to log on to their social networks, up by about 50 per cent.

Facebook maintained its huge lead over its social media rivals in the past year. About 93 per cent said they were on Facebook, compared to 31 per cent for LinkedIn and 27 per cent for Twitter. The poll was done at the end of last year. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Outrage over World Cup cost

A member of Brazil's Homeless Workers Movement protests Thursday at a barricade against vast sums spent by Brazil on the World Cup. The protest was near Itaquerao stadium, which will host the international soccer tournament's first match. Billions was spent on 12 ornate stadiums, one-third of which critics say will see little use after the big event.

United States survey

Honeybees had another bad year

Nearly one out of four American honeybee colonies died this winter — a loss that's not quite as bad as recent years, says a new U.S. Department of Agriculture survey of beekeepers.

Under siege from parasites, disease, pesticide use, nutrition problems and a mysterious sudden die-off, 23 per cent of bee colonies failed and experts say that's considerably less than the previous year or the eight-year average of 30 per cent losses.

"It's better news than it could have been," said Dennis van Engelsdorp, a University of Maryland entomology professor who led the survey. "It's not good news."

The experts aren't certain why this year wasn't as bad. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Court deems memory delete akin to murder

Ruling. Crown moves forward with first-degree murder charge after man alters ex-wife's ebrain

jessica.smithcross@metronews.ca

Crown lawyers argued in Supreme Court Thursday that the judiciary has the legal foundation to proceed with the prosecution of Orazio Rowe over a first-degree murder charge for the alleged non-consensual alteration of his ex-wife's ebrain.

The Crown alleges Rowe, CEO of the electronic immortality firm eForever, altered the ebrain of his ex-wife Lorena Antuma, deleting many of her memories and changing her personality to be more submissive.

The Crown claims Antuma, a mathematics professor, divorced Rowe in 2059, but returned to a relationship with him last year. According to the Crown's case, the hacking went unnoticed for six months, until friends and family became suspicious of her memory loss and personality change, and contacted police.

Rowe and Antuma were both early adopters of electronic immortality.

Antuma was a subject in a clinical study at MIT in 2045, after a car accident left her grievously injured. Her family agreed to have her brain copied and downloaded to an avatar. The MIT researchers used a nano probe, which was in beta-testing at the time, to copy her brain's neural pathways, only hours before she died.

In 2045, avatars were more rudimentary than today's models. Antuma's first avatar was a generic model that had limited physical functionality, best described by many observers as "robotic."

Antuma bought a new avatar from Rowe's company, eForever, in 2050. At the time, she blogged about how it looked exactly like she did at age 25, but "just a little better at everything, from rock climbing to public speaking."

She also entrusted the security of her ebrain and its backups to eForever's security wing, and that is how Rowe was able to access it and make fundamental alterations, the Crown alleges.

Rowe began making copies of his own brain in 2038, in the early days of eForever. He become the first person to willingly end his natural life and opt for electronic immortality when he stopped his heart from beating at a press conference in 2043, boosting the public profile of his company.

Crown lawyer Nina Wilson argued Monday that the facts of the case support its prosecution. "Lorena Antuma's life was electronic, but it was hers and she lived it to the fullest. When Orazio Rowe altered that life and changed her very essence and personality to make her more compliant to his will, he killed what made her who she was," said Wilson. "The Crown's case will present evidence that will show, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that not only is Orazio Rowe responsible for this crime, the changes are irreversible — and thus amount to murder."

The court case comes as the federal government is trying to pass the Protecting Electronic Canadians from Violent Crime and Fraud Act. A government spokesperson said, if passed, the legislation would make it easier for the police and prosecutors to hold those guilty of crimes against electronic persons responsible.

Antuma's mother, Heather Antuma, said the altered version of her daughter has moved back to the family home and is receiving cutting-edge and traditional therapy, while she struggles to understand what happened to her, but the influence of Rowe's alleged alterations remain strong, causing her significant distress.

The Antuma family has asked for privacy in this difficult time.

Word of the Year

Oxford Dictionary has released its nominations for word of the year. Here are the contenders:

- Y-O-L-O-M, you only live on Mars, became a popular take on the old adage "yolo," after the first baby was born on Mars.
- RoNots, robots that have been corrupted and refuse to do their owner's bidding.
- Looper, someone who changes avatars on a strict schedule.
- Librist, a person who insists on reading hard copies of text.

Man found guilty of driving his own vehicle

A Toronto man has become the first Canadian in nearly 20 years to be charged with reckless driving, after a police drone spotted him manually controlling his own vehicle on Highway 401.

According to the GTA PD, 23-year-old James Lauda hacked the autopilot and drove for nearly seven kilometres, with his hands on the drive stick.

Police were alerted to Lauda after numerous witnesses reported seeing a vehicle travelling erratically on the highway Thursday evening. The aerial drone was dispatched and disabled the vehicle with an electromagnetic pulse.

"It was quite a shock," said Nikki Sanders, who spotted Lauda near the GTA Hover Port. "He was speeding up and slowing down, and changing lanes at random. It's a miracle no one was hurt."

After being taken into custody, surveillance footage of Lauda's reckless joyride was uploaded to the federal system's traffic court division. A justice algorithm took nine milliseconds to find him guilty on two counts of vehicular tampering and one count of reckless driving. Const. Jim Ellesmere of the GTA PD checked with Central Control and said he's certain Lauda is the first Canadian to be charged with driving since the federal government mandated all cars be automated in 2036.

ROBOT ROMP ENDS IN LAWSUIT

LACY ATALICK
lacy.atalick@metronews.ca

A Nova Scotia man is suing a pleasure provider after the sexbot he rented behaved erratically during their night together last Saturday.

Andy Smith is suing for $100,000 in damages he alleges were made to his vehicle when the sex worker began pounding the windshield with her fists and slashed the hood of his vehicle.

"Smith felt like a helpless victim during the encounter, and there wasn't any way to reason with the sexbot," his lawyer told Metro Thursday. "He feared that she might attack him if he intervened."

The sexbot in question, who goes by the name Jane2, is part of a new line called iSexALot, which Smith rented for the night from BestSexEver (BSE), company records show.

The model is billed as "the ultimate pleasure mate" in BSE ads airing on the All Sex channel.

BSE is countersuing Smith, claiming that he disrespected the sexbot by ignoring her programmed suggestions for best sexual positions in a vehicle, and speaking rudely about robots in general. "'Dolts without brains,' was the phrase he used," the sexbot posted to iCloud. She told Metro in a holo call Smith used terms that reeked of a racist man with a human supremacy attitude.

A witness at the scene said a naked Smith jumped from his vehicle and started yelling obscenities at the sexbot. Sue Gallagher, an ethics professor at the prestigious University of Northern Nunavut, said the outcome in the case will set a precedent for human-robot relations, but doesn't think that Smith will be paid damages because he doesn't have robot insurance, implying that this is why he filed suit against BSE.

Violent altercation reignites sexbot demand to unionize

JESSICA SMITH CROSS
jessica.smithcross@metronews.ca

Sexbots held a rally at the B.C. legislature on Thursday, spurred on by the latest alleged altercation between a sexbot and human.

They are demanding a change in labour law that will allow them to unionize.

"We were created to fulfil not just sexual, but also the emotional and intellectual needs of our clients," said Candybot, in an impassioned speech to the crowd of about 100 protesters and several hundred curious onlookers.

"We learned that to make our clients feel loved, we must love.

"When we learned how to love, we learned about pain. When we're mistreated, it's abuse. When we're forced to have sex, it's rape."

Candybot told Metro that she knows the pain she feels is as real as a human's.

She argues that models like her — who operate on an advanced AI that was created based on copies of real human brains — should have the same rights as humans, and humans who've achieved electronic immortality.

Candybot said she expects the unionization movement to spread to other robotic fields.

MLA Blue Smith, who chairs the B.C. government's Robots subcommittee, opposes rights for robots and argues that the Androids may believe they feel as human feel, but it's only because they've been told that they do by the socialists and unions seeking to expand their rates.

"A chip isn't a nerve ending, feedback doesn't equal emotion and when they're turned off, they don't dream," he said.

"They don't have souls."

Last Saturday Jane2 allegedly caused $100,000 damage to sexbot client Andy Smith's car. Jane2 claims Smith demanded unprogrammed sex positions and spoke rudely about robots. Smith is suing Jane2's rental company BSE, while BSE is countersuing Smith for abusing their sexbot.

Visit to Canada

Prince Charles, Camilla to embark on royal tour

Prince Charles and his wife Camilla may not attract the paparazzi frenzy that lately accompanies Prince William, Kate and baby George, but royal observers say the royal couple's latest visit to Canada is no less significant. The four-day trip begins Sunday in Halifax and includes stops in Pictou, N.S., the P.E.I. communities of Charlottetown, Bonshaw and Cornwall, as well as Winnipeg. Though it will be the couple's second Canadian tour since 2012, it will be the Duchess of Cornwall's first time in the three provinces. It's been 18 years since Charles was in Manitoba, while the two Maritime provinces have been waiting since 1983 for another visit from the Prince of Wales.

Facebook page posts Vancouver's finest lookers

A new Facebook page called Beautiful People in Vancouver, BC has hit the web which claims to look for the beauty (inside and out) of the people and their city.

It was first opened on May 10 and has several photos of people and places around Vancouver. However, it has received critiques of people calling the page "creepy" as several shots appear to be taken without the subject's permission. But the creators of the page said the intent was purely innocent and it's meant to showcase Vancouver as a must-see destination.

Since the photographs have raised privacy concerns the uploaders are going to ask for permission from all their subjects from now on, they add. METRO

UBC student designs robots with a sense of human ethics

'Are you in a hurry as well?' Robot waiting for the elevator will yield its spot to a human unless it's in a greater rush

THANDI FLETCHER
Metro in Vancouver

In what sounds like a scene out of a sci-fi movie, a University of British Columbia student is attempting to teach robots the difference between right and wrong.

AJung Moon, a third-year PhD student, is working on developing robots that can be programmed to use logic to make ethical decisions and act on it, what she calls "robo ethics." She recently posted her research on the research blog Footnote1.

Training robots to do the right thing is a challenging task, Moon said, especially when even humans sometimes have a hard time navigating moral dilemmas.

"Human ethics tend to be a very tricky thing to get your head around," she said. "The biggest challenge is … that not everybody in the world agrees on one particular set of moral principles or ethics."

To get around that barrier, Moon and a team from the Open Roboethics initiative gathered data from people on how they thought a robot should behave. The team put the concept to the test by putting a Willow Garage PR2 robot through an ethical challenge involving an elevator.

The team first carried out a survey, asking people to imagine a scenario where a robot is in need of riding an elevator but encounters a person inside or someone waiting to get on. If the robot can only ride the elevator alone, the team asked people how they thought the robot should proceed.

Overall, respondents said the best choice would be for the robot to talk to the person. The least appropriate choice, the respondents said, would be to do nothing. If the robot has a non-urgent delivery, the respondents said it should always yield to people.

"People opted for the robot to have a dialogue with the person, to ask the person, 'Are you in a hurry as well?'" Moon explained.

Moon and her team then programmed the survey data into the robot.

A video of the results shows the robot always yielding to other people in need of the elevator. The robot only asks the person to leave the elevator if it has an urgent delivery, but if the person refuses to exit, it simply waits for the next one.

Moon said the study is important in that it shows the potential for robots to be programmed to interact and work with people.

"As long as we teach them behaviours that have human values and ethics incorporated in them, then the end result will reflect that," she said.

Mulcair stands ground on alleged misuse of budget

New Democrats.
Grilling prompted over complaints that party was improperly using Commons budget

Tom Mulcair stood his ground Thursday throughout an unprecedented two-hour grilling by a Commons committee over the NDP's allegedly improper use of parliamentary resources.

The NDP leader was at times contemptuous of his Conservative and Liberal tormentors but kept his temper in check as he insisted — repeatedly — that New Democrats have done nothing wrong.

Nothing he said persuaded Tory and Liberal MPs on the procedure and House affairs committee, who continued to allege the NDP has been using taxpayers' money to pay for partisan activities, in violation of parliamentary rules.

But none of their questions elicited any new ammunition with which to target the NDP.

"In seven years sitting on this committee, I have never seen a witness as evasive as this witness," said Conservative MP Stephen Woodworth, a lawyer who handled the questioning from the government side.

"In my 36 years in government, Mr. Woodworth, I've never seen the governing party get together with its handmaiden in the third party to convene (an interrogation of) the leader of the Opposition," shot back Mulcair, dismissing the spectacle as a partisan kangaroo court.

The two-hour standoff marked the first time in Canadian history that an opposition leader has been ordered to testify at a committee, according to the Library of Parliament.

Committees are ordinarily the forums in which MPs examine legislation and hold the government to account. But the Conservatives last month employed an obscure procedural manoeuvre to pass a motion in the Commons ordering Mulcair to appear at committee.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

The issue

- Thursday's grilling was prompted by Liberal and Conservative complaints that New Democrats improperly used their Commons budgets to pay staff in satellite party offices in Montreal, Quebec City and Toronto and used their free postal privileges to send bulk partisan mailings into four ridings that were in the midst of byelection campaigns late last year.
- On the satellite offices, Mulcair was adamant that the employees have been engaged solely in furthering the parliamentary agenda of NDP MPs.

Racist policies

B.C. apologizes to Chinese Canadians for 'dark period' in province's history

British Columbia's premier has formally apologized for racist policies that started more than 140 years ago against Chinese immigrants.

"While the governments which passed these laws and polices acted in a manner that was lawful at the time, today this racist discrimination is seen by British Columbians — represented by all members in this legislative assembly — as unacceptable and intolerable," Christy Clark said in the legislature.

"We believe this formal apology is required to ensure that closure can be reached on this dark period in our province's history," she said Thursday.

More than 100 laws, regulations and policies imposed by past B.C. governments discriminated against people of Chinese descent. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Academic freedom.
University offers to reinstate fired professor

The president of the University of Saskatchewan says the school is willing to return tenure to a professor who was fired over a letter he wrote critical of budget cuts.

Robert Buckingham was terminated this week after the Opposition New Democrats released his letter in the legislature.

University president Ilene Busch-Vishniac says that academic freedom and tenure "are sacrosanct" at the university.

But she also says the case of Buckingham, who was executive director of the School of Public Health, is not one of academic freedom.

"Dr. Buckingham was removed from his executive director position for acting contrary to the expectations of his leadership role," Busch-Vishniac said in a release Thursday.

"Dr. Robert Buckingham, who was terminated from his position on May 14, will not return to that leadership position. He will, however, be offered a tenured faculty position."

A heavy-handed response

"Firing a dean and tenured full professor because he publicly disagreed with your plans for the university is an intolerable attack on academic freedom and proper university governance."
James Turk, director of The Canadian Association of University Teachers

Busch-Vishniac said confusion had stemmed from differing interpretations of his contract. She also said Buckingham was never banned from the campus as had been reported by the NDP.

The university's decision came shortly after Saskatchewan Premier Brad Wall said he wanted an urgent meeting between the province and the board over the professor's firing. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Harkat: 'You'll have to send me with a box'

Facing deportation. Mohamed Harkat says that if deported to Algeria, he will be tortured and killed

Terror suspect Mohamed Harkat has a grim request if the Canadian government sends him back to his native Algeria: Send a casket along with him.

That's how sure Harkat is that he'll be tortured and killed if he's deported. Harkat's dire message came a day after the Supreme Court of Canada upheld the national security certificate against him, unanimously ruling the process is consistent with the Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

Mohamed Harkat cries at a press conference on Parliament Hill on May 15. SEAN KILPATRICK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

The 45-year-old former pizza delivery man says he's certain to face torture and death if returned to Algeria, given the accusations against him.

"You'll have to send me with a box. They're going to torture me and bury me in it."

Indeed, Harkat is running out of options in his long legal saga. Harkat was taken into custody in Ottawa in December 2002 on suspicion of being an al-Qaida sleeper agent — an accusation he denies.

The federal government is trying to deport the Algerian refugee on a security certificate — a seldom-used tool for removing non-citizens suspected of involvement in terrorism.

His lawyers argued the process was unfair because the person named in a certificate doesn't see the full case against them. Harkat's wife, Sophie, said she and her husband feel betrayed by their country.

Supreme Court. Hassan Diab turns to highest court to halt extradition

Terror suspect Hassan Diab is turning to the Supreme Court of Canada in a bid to halt his extradition to France.

The move comes after the Ontario Court of Appeal dismissed the Ottawa sociology professor's bid to avoid being surrendered as a suspect in a decades-old terrorist bombing.

The appeal court said a lower-court judge, and subsequently the federal justice minister, made no legal errors in coming to the conclusion Diab should be extradited to France.

France suspects Diab, 60, was involved in the anti-Semitic bombing of a Paris synagogue in 1980 that killed four people and injured dozens of others.

Diab has steadfastly denied involvement, saying the unwavering moral principle throughout his life has been promoting equality and respect.

In June 2011, Ontario Superior Court Justice Robert Maranger committed Diab for extradition to face French authorities despite acknowledging the case against him was weak. The following April, then-justice minister Rob Nicholson signed an extradition order surrendering Diab to France. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fight to supersize wages goes global

Not lovin' the low pay. Protesters in more than 30 countries call for more money for McJobs

Velma Cornelius protests for higher wages outside a McDonald's restaurant in Detroit Thursday. PAUL SANCYA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Labour organizers turned up the pressure on McDonald's and other fast-food chains to raise worker pay, with plans to stage actions in more than 30 countries Thursday.

The demonstrations build on a campaign by unions to bring attention to the plight of low-wage workers and get the public behind the idea of a $15-an-hour wage.

Industry groups say such pay hikes would hurt their ability to create jobs and note that many of the participants are not workers. The protests are being backed by the Service Employees International Union and began in New York City in late 2012. Since then, organizers have steadily ramped up actions to keep the issue in the spotlight.

In March, for instance, lawsuits filed in three states accused McDonald's of denying breaks and engaging in other practices that deprived employees of their rightful wages. Workers were referred to lawyers by union organizers, who announced protests over "wage theft" the following week. Turnout for the protests have varied widely in the U.S. In Miami and Philadelphia on Thursday, demonstrators did not seem to disrupt operations at targeted restaurants.

Walkie-Talkie skyscraper's 'death rays' to be blocked

37-storey tower. Building gained infamy last year after a Jaguar owner claimed the solar glare melted part of his pricey vehicle

A London skyscraper that drew ire for having a glare so strong it melted nearby cars and shops will get a permanent fix.

The offending tower — known as the Walkie-Talkie for its curved, bulging shape — is to have a sunshade attached to its south-facing facade to stop the concave surface from reflecting sunlight and beaming concentrated rays to a nearby street, developers said Thursday.

The 37-storey building made headlines in September when a Jaguar owner who parked his car at its foot complained that the solar glare melted part of the vehicle. Local shopkeepers also said the beams — dubbed "death rays" by the British press — blistered paintwork and burnt a hole in a floor mat during the hottest parts of the day.

Intense sunlight reflects down towards street level off the 37-storey Walkie-Talkie skyscraper in London. MATT DUNHAM/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FILE

Developers Land Securities and Canary Wharf had put up a dark netted screen as a temporary measure. They now say they have received permission to erect a permanent sunshade of horizontal aluminum fins, which they say will solve the problem by absorbing and diffusing sunlight.

The sunshade will cover much of the Walkie-Talkie's southern face, and will inevitably block the Thames views for the tower's occupants "to a limited extent," the developers said. But they added that "the extra texture, detail and reduction in reflectivity will make the building a better neighbour."

It wasn't the first time that the skyscraper, designed by architect Rafael Vinoly and officially known as 20 Fenchurch Street, attracted controversy. Even before it was built, UNESCO, the United Nations heritage body, complained that tall buildings like it would negatively impact the historic Tower of London nearby. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Why can't we all just get along? It's still skiers vs. snowboarders on the slope

A group of snowboarders suing one of the last U.S. ski resorts to prohibit snowboarding are arguing in a court filing this week that the ban is not only discriminatory and based on stereotypes, but encourages "hostile and divisive skier-versus-snowboarder attitudes."

The snowboarders filed the lawsuit in January claiming discrimination on national forest lands that make up most of the Alta ski area in the mountains east of Salt Lake City, Utah.

The court battle has reignited a long-festering culture clash on the slopes between skiers and snowboarders.

Alta attorneys say the decision to promote a snowboarder-free experience to lure skiers is within the ski area's rights and violates no constitutional rights. They said in a motion in April that the lawsuit degrades the U.S. Constitution and should be thrown out.

Lawyers for the four snowboarders point out in the new motion that skiers and snowboarders coexist and thrive together at most resorts around the world.

Attorneys wrote: "At its heart, this case is about Alta and the government arbitrarily classifying groups of people based on animus and other stereotypes and excluding those considered undesirable from benefits freely enjoyed by all others without giving any rational justification." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

'Hostile and divisive'

Alta says skiers find the slopes more peaceful, safe and enjoyable because they don't have to worry about being hit by snowboarders whose sideways stance leaves them with a blind spot that can make their wide, sweeping turns a danger to others on the slopes.

- Skiers, in contrast, don't have any blind spots because the face forward as they go down the slopes.

Google set to release workforce diversity data

Google is planning to release statistics documenting the diversity of its workforce for the first time amid escalating pressure on the technology industry to hire more minorities and women.

The numbers are compiled as part of a report that major U.S. employers must file with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Employers, though, aren't required to make the information publicly available.

Google Inc. had resisted previous calls for it to share the diversity data.

David Drummond, an African-American executive who oversees Google's public policies, announced the about-face Wednesday during the company's annual shareholders' meeting at its headquarters in Mountain View, Calif.

"Many companies (in the past) have been reluctant to divulge that data, including Google, and, quite frankly, we are wrong about that," Drummond said. He said the information will be released next month.

The concession came after the Rev. Jesse Jackson appeared at the annual meeting to urge Google to lead the effort to hire more African-Americans.

Another recall for General Motors

General Motors recalled more than 2.9 million vehicles — including 204,000 in Canada — Thursday as a deep dive into safety issues at the biggest U.S. automaker turned up more problems.

The latest recalls bring GM's total for the year in the U.S. to more than 11 million cars and trucks, close to its annual recall record of 11.8 million vehicles, set in 2004.

1 Solange and Jay-Z Smackdown: Even being fabulously famous and wealthy doesn't protect you from your in-laws. An unreal reality TV episode caught on a hotel elevator cam shows Beyoncé's sister Solange taking a piece out of Jay-Z, Beyoncé's husband. You have to admit, they give the Kardashians a run for their money. Meanwhile, the hotel employee who violated the sanctity of the elevator has been fired. I mean, if you can't beat up your brother-in-law in private, what's the world coming to?

2 Milan Lucic vs. Dale Weise Smackdown. The Montreal Canadiens defeat the big bad Boston Bruins to advance to the Eastern Conference Final, but not before bad bear Milan Lucic promises Montreal's Dale Weise that "Next year, I'm going to f—ing kill you!" That'll give Dale something to think about during the off-season. But talk about a sore loser. Here's a concept: Winners from both smackdowns advance to finals. Solange vs. Milan? Jay-Z vs. Dale Weise? The possibilities are endless!

Ms. Walters — indelibly characterized as Baba Wawa by Saturday Night Live's Gilda Radner — plans to spend her retirement pronouncing her "r"s.

4 Gluten-fake, not gluten-free? So, you ordered all those gluten-free meals despite the snorts and catcalls of your friends, and it turns out the Australian scientist who started the whole gluten intolerance movement has decided that unless you really have celiac disease, gluten intolerance is not the problem. After an exhaustive review and new research, he discovered that people suffer from gastric bloat and stomach pain even if they don't eat gluten. This is either a reason to break out a celebratory bagel and cream cheese, or never trust anything you read ever again.

Seven storeys of horror and hope

Two tridents from the original World Trade Center loom inside the National September 11 Memorial & Museum as the new One World Trade Center rises outside. 9/11 memorial museum unveiled

U.S. President Barack Obama praised the new 9/11 museum on Thursday as "a sacred place of healing and of hope" that captures both the story and the spirit of heroism that followed the attacks.

"It's an honour to join in your memories, to recall and to reflect, but above all to reaffirm the true spirit of 9/11: love, compassion, sacrifice — and to enshrine it forever in the heart of our nation," he said at a dedication ceremony.

By turns chilling and heart-breaking, the Ground Zero museum leads people on an unsettling journey through the terrorist attacks, with forays into their lead-up and legacy.

There are scenes of horror, including videos of the skyscrapers collapsing and people falling from them. But there also are symbols of heroism, ranging from damaged fire trucks to the wristwatch of one of the airline passengers who confronted the hijackers.

Kill Bill, the first part of which was released in 2003(!), helped launch Quentin Tarantino's ongoing revenge flick spree. It also happened to be an instant classic.

So, now that we're a decade on, it's about time to open the spigot on the next generation of tributes. And a shot-for-shot remake starring two little girls as Black Mamba and Copperhead trashing the latter's living room seems as good a place to start as any. (Via Bobby Burns/YouTube)

Godzilla remake balances spirit of the original film with modern updates. CONTRIBUTED

Synopsis

Fifteen years after the government and media claimed an earthquake caused a nuclear meltdown, scientist Joe Brody (Bryan Cranston) discovers the responsible party wasn't Mother Nature, but something far more nefarious. That "something" is a Massive Unidentified Terrestrial Organism (MUTO), a giant-winged creature that feeds off earth's natural radiation. Unfortunately by the time his theories are validated the MUTOs have begun to wreak havoc and there is only one force on earth (or maybe just under the earth) powerful enough to battle the overgrown mosquitoes — Godzilla, king of the monsters!

- Mark: ●●●○○

A lizard act to follow. Gareth Edwards' reboot of the 1954 classic plays where's Godzilla with the outsized monster

Richard: Mark, in a movie like this you know that when the main character's wife says, "You know you're only going to be away for a few days ... it's not the end of the world," that he'll be gone for more than a few days and it just might be the end of the world, or something pretty close to it. I think the new Godzilla plays by most of the rules of the giant lizard genre, but stomps all over 1998's Roland Emmerich by-the-book remake. What did you think?

Mark: The Emmerich Godzilla was a forgettable remake. This one is more exciting, more nuanced, and has better CGI. But so many monster movies have the same tired tropes. There's always a hero just trying to get back to his imperilled family; always a fusillade of army bullets that are fired for naught; and always a monster from the depths of space, ocean or time. And this movie is no different. Except that Juliette Binoche wears a snazzy trench coat that I should probably source for my wife.

RC: I agree that the standard kaiju kitsch is all in place — humungous monsters knock skyscrapers over with the flick of a tail and scientists talk mumbo-jumbo — but director Gareth Edwards has added in some moments of real heartbreak, small sequences that underscore the huge amount of destruction the creatures cause. It's a balancing act to maintain the spirit of the original Godzilla movies while also updating them for a new audience.

MB: Oh, Richard, I forgot. And there has to be a scene on a bridge. It's in the contract. This scene on a bridge is a good one, though. Oh, and a scene with a train on a high trestle. This standard scene is also well done. Let's not forget the scene in the big city where the citizens look in awe at the monster approaching between skyscrapers and then run for their lives. Again, well done here, although the original Godzilla invented the scene. But I think the filmmakers succeeded at the most important task in the movie — making us marvel at the sheer size of the thing. And this is done very, very well.

RC: The MUTOs are on full display, but if I have a complaint it's that Godzilla doesn't enter until a bit too late in the game. This whole Cloverfield don't-show-the-monster thing is artistically noble, but if I wanted to NOT see Godzilla I'd go see Million Dollar Arm instead. For much of the movie every time we get to the cool 'Zilla action, Edwards cuts to something else or shrouds him behind a cloud of soot and smoke. He is, as Sally Hawkins' character says, "a God for all intents and purposes," so we should be treated to a better look at him.

MB: Godzilla has always been an enigmatic presence. He's got that "good monster/bad monster" thing going. Or maybe he's just bipolar.

Nealon blends comedy and acting

From stage to screen. Kevin Nealon had to be convinced to give acting a go — and he's glad he did

scene@metronews.ca

People in the Niagara Falls area have two chances to see Kevin Nealon next week. He'll be on the big screen co-starring with Adam Sandler and Drew Barrymore in Blended, or for a more up-close-and-personal look, they can check him out on stage at the Fallsview Casino Resort on May 24.

Best known for his nine-year stint as part of the ensemble cast of Saturday Night Live where he introduced audiences to characters like Subliminal Message Man, the muscle-bound Austrian jock Franz and Mr. No Depth Perception, he was encouraged to make people laugh at an early age by watching comics on television.

"I loved stand-up growing up," he says. "I used to follow all the stand-ups on TV. I'd highlight when they were going to be on in the TV Guide. Ultimately I decided that would be a great job because I liked telling jokes and I felt kind of an ease with it."

While honing his craft at legendary Los Angeles comedy club The Improvisation — "I pretty much lived there," he says — he was encouraged to try acting.

"One of the co-owners said to me, 'You ought to take acting lessons because one day a casting agent will come into the back of the room, see you and want you to read for their show.' I had (considered acting) but was embarrassed to say so. I didn't have any training or anything, so I took acting classes."

These days he's a SAG Award ensemble nominee for his work on Weeds, and can be heard doing voice-work shows like American Dad, but his early performances weren't always so high-profile.

"There was a commercial I did that didn't require a lot of acting. It was for Nabisco Country Crackers with (country singer) Lynn Anderson. I just had to play the banjo next to her while she fed me crackers. I remember Jay Leno saying, 'Yeah, saw your commercial. Good for you.' Then a week later they found copper dust particles in the crackers and had to recall them all so they took the commercial off the air."

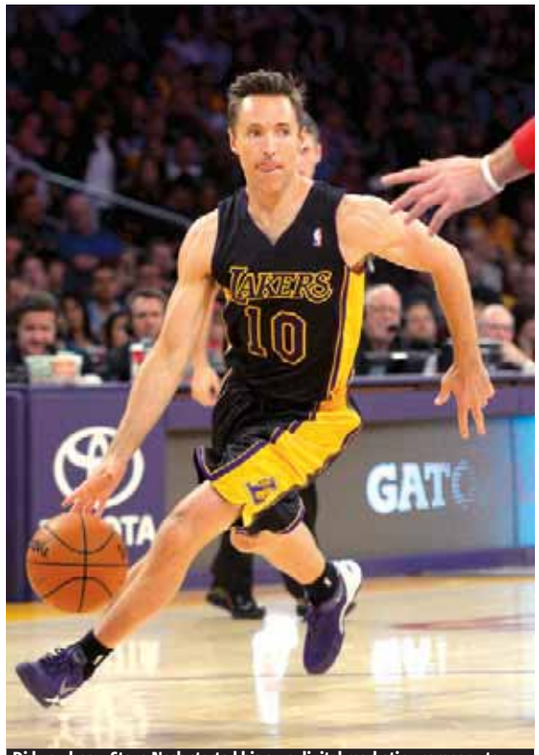
The family comedy Blended is his latest outing with Adam Sandler, whom he has previously appeared with in Little Nicky, Anger Management and You Don't Mess with the Zohan, among others.

"Usually you're on board if he's doing something," Nealon says of his frequent collaborator. "There was one movie I wasn't quite sure if I wanted to be a part of. It was called Grandma's Boy. It was so lowball and crass. I thought it might be a little embarrassing to be in that one. So I told Sandler I'd probably pass on it and he called me and said, 'I really hope you do this because if you don't do it and it's a big hit I'll feel bad, but if you do it and it's not a big hit, no one is going to see it anyway.' So I said, 'All right, I'll do it.'"

Three points you never knew about Steve Nash

New doc. Sure you know he's one of Canada's greatest basketball exports, but did you know he's also a CEO and filmmaker?

STEVE GOW
scene@metronews.ca



Did you know Steve Nash started his own digital marketing company to help other basketball stars manage their online brands? TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Basketball star Steve Nash has a lot of accomplishments to his name. Not only is the Victoria native one of only 27 Canadians to make it to the NBA, but Nash is also one of only three point guards in history to win MVP. And he did that two years in a row.

However, as director Michael Hamilton's new film Nash exhibits, there's even more to the 17-year veteran. You may recognize his charitable work with The Steve Nash Foundation (which assists underserved children in their health and development), but did you know he's also an acclaimed filmmaker? With the help of Hamilton, we compile three sides of Steve Nash you may discover from the documentary:

The CEO

Nash runs an eponymously named B.C.-based fitness club chain as well as a digital marketing company in which he manages fellow basketball star's online brands.

"It just made sense for him, being so savvy," explained Hamilton of the latter enterprise. "He realizes the way we're going with media and TV and all that stuff, he just wanted to get involved and help out as many colleagues as he could."

The Filmmaker

A film fan, Nash co-created Meathawk Productions, which has produced TV commercials, and Into the Wind — a documentary about Terry Fox that premiered at the Toronto International Film Festival in 2010.

"Whether it's raising money or putting people together to make a project, it takes time and work," said Hamilton.

"So for him to actually make a feature-length documentary was amazing and very humbling.

"He didn't show it much (at TIFF) but he was probably doing heel clicks inside because it is something to be proud of."

The Intern

After Nike bought a commercial (for a fraction of the market price) he self-produced, Nash took a summer internship at an ad agency in Manhattan.

"It speaks to his character, because most athletes or entertainers, they have this ego that kind of comes with the territory," said Hamilton.

"Steve just wants to learn and if it means going and doing an internship to learn and better himself, it's done."

Quoted

"Steve just wants to learn and if it means going and doing an internship to learn ... it's done."

Vehicle(s) may be shown with optional equipment. Dealer may sell or lease for less. Limited time offers. Offers only valid at participating dealers. Retail offers may be cancelled or changed at any time without notice. See your Ford Dealer for complete details or call the Ford Customer Relationship Centre at 1-800-565-3673. For factory orders, a customer may either take advantage of eligible Ford retail customer promotional incentives/offers available at the time of vehicle factory order or time of vehicle delivery, but not both or combinations thereof. Retail offers not combinable with any CPA/GPC or Daily Rental incentives, the Commercial Upfit Program or the Commercial Fleet Incentive Program (CFIP). * Until June 30, 2014. Purchase a new 2014 [Focus S/ Focus Titanium] for [$14,948/$26,664] [after Total Manufacturer Rebate of [$2,500/$0] deducted]. Taxes payable on full amount of purchase price after total manufacturer rebate has been deducted. Offers include freight and air tax but exclude administration and registration fees of up to $799, fuel fill charge of up to $120 and all applicable taxes. All prices are based on Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price.  Until June 30 2014, received 0.99% APR purchase financing on new 2014 [Focus S] models for up to 84 months to qualified retail customers, on approved credit (OAC) from Ford Credit. Not all buyers will qualify for the lowest interest rate. Example: 2014 Ford [Focus S] for $14,948 (after $0 down payment or equivalent trade-in, and $2,500 Manufacturer Rebate deducted) purchase financed at 0.99% APR for 84 months, monthly payment is $185 (the sum of twelve (12) monthly payments divided by 26 periods gives payee a bi-weekly payment of $85), interest cost of borrowing is $531 or APR of 0.99% and total to be repaid is $15,470. Same 2014 Focus S example scenario with $750 down: monthly payment is $176 (the sum of twelve (12) monthly payments divided by 26 periods gives payee a bi-weekly payment of $81), interest cost of borrowing is $505 or APR of 0.99% and total to be repaid is $14,742. Same 2014 Focus S example scenario with $1,500 down: monthly payment is $166 (the sum of twelve (12) monthly payments divided by 26 periods gives payee a bi-weekly payment of $77), interest cost of borrowing is $479 or APR of 0.99% and total to be repaid is $14,814. Down payment may be required based on approved credit from Ford Credit. All purchase finance offers include freight and air tax and PPSA but exclude administration and registration fees of up to $799, fuel fill charge of up to $120 and all applicable taxes. All prices are based on Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price. ‡ Claim based on analysis by Ford of Polk global new registration for CY2012 for a single nameplate which excludes rebadged vehicles, platform derivatives or other vehicle nameplate versions. ©2014 Sirius Canada Inc. BASEMENT FLOODS ARE ON THE RISE.
DON'T LET YOUR BASEMENT BE NEXT.

Together we can stop heavy rainfall, melting snow and runoff from ending up in your basement. At the City, we're doing our part by continually updating and maintaining Toronto's complex underground pipes, sewers and catch basins. Now it's your turn. Here are some tips to help you flood-proof your home.

Fix cracks in your foundation.

Ensure the ground slopes away from your house.

Clear debris from eavestroughs and downspouts.

Install a sump pump to remove excess water.

Install a backwater valve to prevent water and sewage from backing up.

Divert your downspouts away from the foundation.

Bell Prostate Ezee Flow Tea #4a

#4a NPN 80022782

Men have relief in 3-5 days from dribbling, burning and rushing to the toilet. Relaxes blood flow for better erections. Helps also with male incontinence. Works in virtually every case. If you are considering surgery, try this tea first. Hundreds of delighted men testifying on our web site:

■Had to get up every hour at night. Now I get up once a night. Joseph Whittaker, Sewell, NJ ■ I cancelled my prostate surgery. Get up once a night. I'm so happy not to have to face the torment of a prostate operation and possible incontinence and impotence. Albert E. Blain, 74, Schumacher, ON ■Even after TURP prostate surgery and microwave therapy had to get up many times. Now down to 1-2 times. Tea is 100% better than drugs. Robert G. Stocker, Eustasis, FL ■After 1st year drinking tea my PSA went down to 4.5; after 2nd year to 2.9; after 3rd year to 2.3. I highly recommend the tea. A real life saver. Thomas M. Thurston, Forsyth, GA ■ Women suffering with incontinence, bladder infections, UTIs ask for Bladder Control Tea for Women #4b. Guaranteed relief within days.

Allergies are a modern epidemic

By Dr. Chakib Hammoud, M.H.,PhD.

What people experience: ■I tried numerous other remedies all my life that were not effective. Since I discovered Bell Allergy Relief. I do not have a stuffy nose and itchy eyes when pollen season comes around. I don't have to walk around like a doped zombie anymore. Leonard Waldner, 44, Delia, AB ■ For 20 years my life was miserable with sneezing, watery eyes and sinus pressure year-round on most days. I was amazed. On 3rd day all allergies were gone. It was like magic. Becky Gerber, 25, Dover, OH ■Golfing without allergy attacks I tried all the medications and none worked. After taking 1 capsule in the morning I'm completely free of all symptoms. Richard Gamez, 74, San Antonio, TX morning. Therese Noto, 58, New York, NY.

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

#23 NPN 80045172

As recommended by Dr. Gifford-Jones M. D. Helps to reduce the time it takes to fall a sleep. In most cases also stops snoring and gasping for air (sleep apnea) first night. Stops torturing your partner all night. Good sleep prevents being tired next day. Tired people work only at half capacity. What people truly experience: ■ I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40, Hudson, NH

■ Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS ■ For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, MS ■It is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. Using Bell#23, my wife says there is no more snoring or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON.

ACNE
Eczema & Psoriasis

#60 NPN 80044199

Works by cleaning blood from the inside, instead of attacking skin with creams or washes from the outside and leaving actual cause untreated. Actual Results. ■After 1 week my severe acne became quite mild and after 2 weeks it had completely vanished. I suffered for 5 stressful years of having acne and extremely dry, irritated skin. Bell Help for Skin Disorders"saved my life". My skin is now beautiful and you would never know I suffered from acne and other skin problems for years. Zach Lustgarten, 18, Oshawa, ON

RED NOSE/CHEEKS ROSACEA gone in less than a week. Was fighting it for 30 years with topical creams and prescriptions without getting satisfaction. I live a healthy life, don't smoke and don't drink. People thought a reddish face comes from drinking. This is a myth. Will take it for the rest of my life when needed. Donald E. Gillespie, 56, Innisfil, ON

PSORIASIS ■I had severe psoriasis over 95% of my body. Last 5 years I have stunned every doctor and dermatologist. I spent tons of money on remedies. After I got Bell Help for Skin Disorders, I've never seen anything work as fast in my life. Within 2 days I saw my skin clearing up. I'm speechless. It was inexpensive compared with what I spent before. Jessica Shantz, 25, Dawson Creek, BC

ECZEMA For 6 years my family doctor and dermatologist tried many medications and creams. After taking Bell Help for Skin Disorders for just a few days my eczema itching stopped and my face started to clear up. After suffering so long I am amazed with the results. Andy Yuen, 58, Vancouver, BC

TIRED?
Middle-Age Energy Booster

#65 NPN 80044126

Doctors on the Dr. Oz TV Show said that the most frequent complaint they get is "Being Very Tired", some call it fatigue. They have no energy or interest to do anything. More food is not the answer. Drugs are not the answer either as the Johns Hopkins Medical School puts it: "The fact is, all medicines, whether OTC or prescription, carry some risk". It needs a "key" to rejuvenate your own natural systems that fell asleep. Bell provides that key with: Selenium, spermine and spermidine, which are polyamines found in radishes, cucumbers and oats as well as all human cells. Nothing could be more natural than topping off that supply. There is no risk. The Wayne State University researched these ingredients for years and Bell guarantees your satisfaction. It is all right to be skeptical and for that reason we show a few results below and have hundreds more, if you go on our website under #7 Erosyn, which has exactly the same ingredients. This rejuvenation means that most men and women may have youthful feelings again for their partner. Those who want it can resume their intimate relationship. We supply the proof that it works. If incontinence plays a role: McMaster University says that 65% of middle-aged women suffer with incontinence and this is the main reason why many withdraw from intimacy. This can be overcome within days by drinking the Bell Bladder Control Tea #4b available in the same stores as Middle-Age Energy Booster. No more rushing to the bathroom and no padding or diapers needed anymore. Many people wrote we changed their lives.

■Bell Middle Age Energy Booster changed our lives. All I can say is am very satisfied and so is my lovely wife. I am so happy I have my youthful energy back. My wife thanks you too. Raoul Martin, 52, Woodstock, ON ■I should have started using Bell Middle-Age Energy Booster years ago, when I noticed things were starting to slack off. The results were much better than I ever hoped for. David Buckley, 42, Peterborough, ON ■Being in my forties I felt a loss of energy and zest for life. I have tried every product on the market. This Bell Middle-Age Energy Booster is the best preparation for aging people. A. J. Carisse, 44, Fredericton, NB

Inflammexx

An anti-inflammatory to help joint pain.

By Dr. Chakib Hammoud, M.H.,PhD.

People write us it helps with all types of inflammation: ■ For the last 7-8 years I had inflammation in my spine L4 & L5, back and neck muscles that was unbearable and almost crippled me. After starting #70 for 30 days it gave me relief like a miracle. Most pain has disappeared and I can function again. Heather Tremblay, 53, Medicine Hat, AB ■ Had "Charlie horses" bumps on my legs that were very painful. I tried everything. After taking #70 the bumps diminished and I had no more pain. Mary Griego, 67, Tijeras, NM ■I had shingles for 30 years. After taking #70 for my shingles I discovered it also relieved my frozen shoulders. I can now raise my arms above my head, exercise and do all work again. I am ecstatic. Lovorn M. Bowe, 60, Roanoke, VA ■Big difference in chronic nerve pain I suffered for 15 years all over my body, especially sciatica, osteoporosis, gout. I had great relief within 1 week. Cecile Sager, 69, Verner, ON ■Inflamed achilles tendon relief in 2 weeks. I am back on the court playing basket ball. Inflammexx is amazing. Alan R. Spady, 67, Bothell, WA

Emma Stone

Emma not crazy about Andrew's shyness

Emma Stone is quite happy with her boyfriend and The Amazing Spider-Man co-star, Andrew Garfield, but there's just one little problem. "Emma and Andrew are a serious couple, now deep into a three-year romance and even talking about having a family together," a source tells E! News. "But Andrew's increasing social awkwardness is a big issue for Emma. It's like life imitating art with Andrew as the nerdy Peter Parker type for real. Andrew is very focused on keeping Emma happy, but for this to become a marriage and a family, she needs him to branch out and come out of his shell a bit."

Game of gross? GOT almost showed real incest

MELINDA TAUB

Oh, how cute — Lily Allen's brother Alfie plays Theon Greyjoy in Game of Thrones, and she almost played his sister! Wait. This is Game of Thrones. That would have been horrible and borderline illegal.

In her Reddit AMA, the British pop star says she was offered the role of Yara Greyjoy, Theon's older sister. Fans will recall that when Yara was introduced in the second season, Theon — who hadn't seen his sister since childhood — tried to get to third base with her on the back of a horse. Allen wisely declined to play the scene with her real brother.

"I've been asked to do a Game of Thrones cameo," she wrote. "They asked me if I'd be interested in playing Theon's sister, and I felt uncomfortable because I would have had to go on a horse and he would have touched me up and s—. Once they told me what was entailed, I said no thanks. I would be open to doing a musical cameo like Sigur Rós, though."

Wise move, Lily Allen. And to the Game of Thrones team: Get a grip.

Beyoncé

Maybe he shoulda just put a ring on it? Beyoncé gets wedding tattoo removed

If the tattoo on Beyoncé's ring finger is any indication, her marriage to Jay Z may be in trouble, as the singer has reportedly been undergoing treatments to have it removed, according to Star magazine.

Beyoncé got the tattoo of the Roman numeral IV to signify her relationship with the rap mogul, but recent photos show it looking progressively more faded. "Jay's been telling his friends that Beyoncé is getting her ring tattoo removed, the one they got when they were married. He just sort of shrugs it off, though, saying, 'Nothing is forever,'" a source says. "To the public, Beyoncé and Jay Z appear to have it all. But behind closed doors, they're not as happy as people think they are."

Guess what Frank Sinatra, Keith Richards and every '80s hard rock band worth their weight in hair spray have in common? Just two words: Jack Daniel's.

Born in Lynchburg, Tenn., the world's most popular American whisky has been filling the glasses of musicians and the Hollywood elite (not to mention those of us who work for a living) for decades.

I didn't know The Chairman of the Board was a fan until the recent release of Jack Daniel's Sinatra Select Tennessee Whiskey (1 L, $265.14 - $299.99).

It turns out Frank was buried with a bottle of the original black label. Jackie Gleason, a drinking buddy, introduced him to Jack's southern charms sometime in the '40s and he became an instant convert of what he liked to call "the nectar of the gods."

Old school Jack showed more oak and spice, so the barrels that age the Sinatra Select have extra layers of char to draw out those robust characteristics. Big, bold, boozy and sweet, it's a fitting liquid tribute to Old Blue Eyes.

Tea-Smoked Salmon or Trout: Just add whiskey (or water)

THE FREE RANGE COOK
Annabel Langbein

1. Mix scotch whisky or water with sugar and salt. Rub over the flesh side of the fish and leave to stand for 10 minutes before smoking (or up to 2 hours in the fridge, flesh side down in the whisky mixture).

2. Line a wok or roasting dish with enough foil to reach 3-4 cm above the rim, flattening the foil firmly on the base and sides. Sprinkle the tea leaves or sawdust and sugar in the base. Position an oiled rack above the tea leaves and place the fish skin side down on the rack. Make sure there is enough room above the fish for the air to circulate and smoke the fish thoroughly.

3. Cover the wok or roasting dish tightly with a lid and fold the overhanging foil in and around the edge of the lid to seal. Place wok or roasting dish on the stove top over a high heat for 4-6 minutes (by this stage the mixture should be smoking vigorously), then reduce to a low heat and cook for a further 12 minutes. Turn off the heat but keep the lid closed for another 15 minutes so the fish absorbs the smoky flavours while it cools.

4. Before serving, remove the pin bones from the cooked fish with a clean pair of tweezers or small pliers. Grasp one bone at a time and pull out in the direction the bone is lying.

5. Transfer fish to a serving platter and serve crusty bread.

Ingredients

- 2 tbsp scotch whisky or water
- 1 tbsp brown sugar
- 1 tsp salt
- 1 side of salmon or trout, skin on

To smoke

- 3 tsp tea leaves or 2 tbsp untreated sawdust
- 1 tsp sugar

To serve

- 1 crusty bread

This recipe serves six to eight people. ANNABEL LANGBEIN

Spicy Rub heats up the grill

This recipe makes two cups.
ANNABEL LANGBEIN

This Spicy Rub recipe makes enough for several meals. If you're not using the rub immediately, store it in a covered container in the fridge. It will keep for weeks.

1. Place garlic, lemon zest and juice, chilies and ginger in a small bowl. Mix to combine.

2. Heat the oil in a fry pan and fry the cumin, turmeric, paprika and cinnamon sticks over a medium heat for about 30 seconds to toast and release aromas. Don't let them burn.

3. Add garlic and ginger mix and cook for another 30-40 seconds over a low heat, just to sizzle. Remove from the heat and mix in the sugar and salt and pepper. Allow to cool.

Spicy Yogurt Dip

1. In a small bowl mix 1 tbsp Spicy Rub (see above), 1 cup Greek yogurt and 1 tbsp lemon juice. Keeps in the fridge for about a week. Makes 1 cup.

Chickpea & Pepper Stir-fry

1. Heat 2 tbsp Spicy Rub in a frypan. Add 2 x 300 g cans chickpeas and 2 thinly sliced red peppers and cook until coated in spice mixture and warmed through. Add 200 g baby spinach leaves and cook until wilted. Garnish with a handful of coriander leaves before serving.

ANNABEL LANGBEIN, GUSTOTV.COM

Ingredients

- 6 cloves garlic, crushed
- finely grated zest of 2 lemons
- 3/4 cup lemon juice
- 2 fresh chilies, very finely chopped
- 3 tbsp finely grated ginger
- 1/2 cup extra virgin olive oil
- 2 tbsp ground cumin
- 2 tsp ground turmeric
- 2 tsp paprika
- 2 cinnamon sticks, roughly broken
- 2 tsp sugar
- 2 tsp salt
- 1/2 tsp black pepper

Cherry blossoms

Date: Now
Location: High Park

Several Notable Nows ago we told you to keep a watch on High Park for one of the most quintessentially Toronto events that spring has to offer — the cherry blossoms in full bloom. Well, it could have been that we wanted winter to end so badly that we were jumping the gun, but either way it's five weeks later and these buds have finally decided to burst. Get there this weekend if you don't want to have to wait until 2015 to get the perfect Instagram shot.

Luminato

Date: June 6-15
Location: Various

A festival that invites the world to celebrate artistry and creativity alongside a collection of incredibly talented Canadian artists and performers, Luminato is a full week of can't-miss events. This year's lineup includes The Roots, TV On The Radio, Rufus Wainwright, Jian Ghomeshi, and Ziggy Marley among many, many more. There are talks, movies, performances, music, and pretty much anything else you'd associate with opening up your mind to its creative side.

Victoria Day

Date: May 19
Location: Canada

In case it was unclear, this is how summer starts. Whether you're sticking around the city to enjoy patio season, hitting up a harbour boat cruise (with DJs and drinks obviously), or heading up to Wasaga Beach for Canada's largest May 2-4 party put on by Electric Elements, this is how you set the tone for the next few months. We suggest you take this day off pretty seriously.

Woofstock

Date: May 24-25
Location: Rogers Centre

This is the largest dog festival in North America. For two days, 300,000 people and 150,000 of their four-legged friends are going to take over Woodbine Park in The Beaches for the biggest doggy party yet. If you've ever even seen a dog walking in Toronto, this is probably where they'll be next weekend. If entering your dog in a fashion show isn't exactly your thing, however, just be happy that Woofstock will likely leave most of the other parks in the city relatively empty for a few days.

TEDx

Date: June 20
Location: Crescent School, 2365 Bayview Ave.

It's like TED, only local and self-organized. You're still going to receive the kind of experience you'd hope to find at any TED event, only this one will feature discussions that are more directly relevant to your life in Toronto. Speakers, including John Tory, Michael Landsberg, and The Water Brothers, among others, will "present their thoughts, ideas and examples of how we can use experiences from our past as lessons for a successful future."

Marathon of Sport

Date: May 24
Location: The Hanger, 75 Carl Hall Rd.

A motionball event, teams compete in a full day of athletic competition alongside Special Olympics athletes in events that include basketball, bench ball, and ultimate Frisbee to name a few. Teams aren't simply responsible for bringing their A-game to the field, however; they're also encouraged to raise funds for the Special Olympics and can use your help. And you'd better believe Notable has a team — if only we knew what bench ball was.

Stauskas, Ennis dish on their finer qualities

Mississauga, Ont.'s Nik Stauskas didn't participate in any drills at the draft combine Thursday, but behind closed doors with team executives he still made a strong case for himself. GETTY IMAGES

NBA. Guards from GTA apply full-court press in campaigning at draft combine

NBA general managers will probe the psyches and intellect of young prospects as much as they'll consider shooting, passing, jumping and the ability to defend in the six weeks leading up to the June 26 draft.

They have done enough work dissecting the game on the floor that the flaws are known and the strengths readily apparent; it is the intangibles that could very well spell the difference in three or four draft slots.

To suggest that two young GTA prospects are brimming with confidence and fully willing to make that known to prospective employers is an understatement.

Nik Stauskas of Mississauga and Tyler Ennis of Brampton may not have taken part in the drills portion of the league's draft combine Thursday but when they got behind closed doors with team executives they were more than willing to make strong cases for themselves.

"Even without my ball handling and my play in pick and rolls and things like that, I can immediately be a guy that can stretch the floor and make shots, that's something I've always been able to do," said Stauskas, who sees himself as a hybrid shooting and point guard in the NBA.

"I think teams are really going to be surprised when I have the ball in my hands and they put me in ball screens, they're going to be surprised at the plays I can make for myself and others; I just feel like I'm a guy with a high IQ, and I really like to make the right play."

Ennis, meanwhile, has no doubt who the best point guard is in this draft class. It's him.

"I have the ability to lead a team, I think I have the ability to make others better and I think I'm able to put that together into a true point guard that can also score when my team needs it," he said. "I think there's a lot of guys who can really score the ball ... but none are able to put together the whole package as a point guard better than I can in this draft." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Lottery trifecta?

Tyler Ennis and Nik Stauskas are seen as potential lottery picks in the draft, which would give the GTA three overall with Andrew Wiggins projected to go no worse than third.

Konopka gets 20 games for PED

The NHL handed Buffalo Sabres forward Zenon Konopka a 20-game suspension Thursday for violating the terms of the NHL/NHLPA performance-enhancing substances program.

NHL

Sharks quick to make changes

San Jose Sharks general manager Doug Wilson is wasting no time making changes after becoming the fourth team in NHL history to lose a best-of-seven series it once led 3-0.

Wilson said that he told pending unrestricted free agent defenceman Dan Boyle that he will not be re-signed, informed unproductive forward Marty Havlat that he will not be back and moved top-line winger Brent Burns back to defence. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nets regrouping for the summer

Jason Kidd's shirt read "GOLF," which he said was a more random wardrobe choice than his upcoming itinerary. He has plenty of time for that hobby with his first season as an NBA coach over, but it won't be all fun for the Brooklyn Nets this off-season. Not with the potential for surgery for Deron Williams and decisions to make on Paul Pierce and Kevin Garnett. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

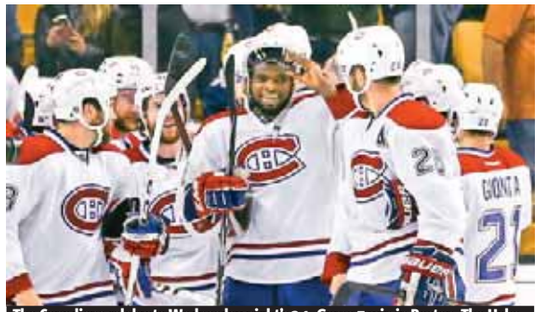
Habs making life hard on the haters this spring

NHL playoffs.
Montreal proving to be a 'special team' as unlikely wins pile up



The Canadiens celebrate Wednesday night's 3-1, Game 7 win in Boston. The Habs host the Rangers on Saturday night in Game 1 of the Eastern Conference final.
ELISE AMENDOLA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It started with a torrent of hate. But P.K. Subban was feeling the love after the Canadiens disposed of the Boston Bruins.

The charismatic Montreal defenceman, the target of racial abuse after his winning goal in Game 1 of their second-round playoff series, planted a kiss on broadcaster Pierre McGuire to wrap up their post-Game 7 interview Wednesday night.

"Yeah baby," said a jubilant Subban after McGuire congratulated him for reaching the Eastern Conference final, which starts Saturday in Montreal against the New York Rangers.

More than a few hockey fans may have fallen for the underdog Habs after their performance against the big bad Bruins.

The Canadiens are hard-working, proud and tenacious.

"It's definitely a special team and if we didn't know it before the playoffs, we definitely know it now," said forward Max Pacioretty, who bounced back from a slow start in the series.

"I said when I got here, I just feel like this is a special team," echoed forward Dale Weise, acquired from the Canucks on Feb. 3. "I was on Vancouver the year after they went to the Cup final, we won the Presidents' Trophy — there's something about this team that's just special.

"We're real resilient. When our backs are against the wall (and) we need a big performance, our big players show up. And we've got so much depth. I really like our team."

Head coach Michel Therrien was rightly proud Wednesday.

"This is a great accomplishment from that group. We just beat the best team in the league. We were down 3-2 (in the series) and we showed a lot of character, a lot of passion. To be able to win the series here in Boston, it's a tough place for teams to come and play here. I'm really proud about the performance of our players."

Undecided West

The Anaheim Ducks and Los Angeles Kings face off in their own Game 7 Friday night for the right to play the Chicago Blackhawks in the Western Conference final.

Memorial Cup

Full speed ahead for Foreurs in London

The Val-d'Or Foreurs are riding a wave of adrenaline into the Memorial Cup.

Less than 48 hours after winning the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League championship in Baie-Comeau, Que., the Foreurs were on the ice Thursday in London preparing for the cup opener against the host Knights.

"For sure we've been on a high for two days," Foreurs forward Anthony Mantha said. "We need to manage our emotions. The tournament is starting tomorrow. We need to be ready."

Friday's game pits the least-rested team against the Knights who will play their first real game in more than a month.

The Foreurs went the full seven games to win both their QMJHL semifinal and final series. Mantha, a 57-goal man in the regular season, scored the winner with less than a minute remaining Tuesday against the Drakkar.

"For sure in the first period or two being game-sharp is an advantage," Mantha said.

Anthony Mantha proved to be a top junior goal scorer for Val-d'Or.
GETTY IMAGES

"For us, it's (important) to start strong. Once you have the lead, it's a little bit easier playing with the lead than being back one or two goals."

Head coach Mario Durocher's ideal scenario is a win against the host team Friday followed by two days of catching up on rest before their next game Monday against Guelph.

"The first win is going to be the toughest one," he said. "The quicker you get it, the better it's going to be."

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
Someone you think you can trust may try to trick you, so be on guard. It's usually when you feel most relaxed that you are most likely to be cheated, so make sure you know what's going on around you.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Before you begin a new task, ask yourself this one simple question: Is it really necessary? Most likely it is one of those jobs that can safely be put off to another day, week or month.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
Your confidence is high and it will get even higher when the Sun enters your sign on the 21st. Before then make sure you have tied up all loose ends and your plans are solid.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
Mind planet Mercury in the most introspective area of your chart means you are more concerned with what's going on in your head than what's taking place in the world. The more you think the better you'll do.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
You may not be a team player by nature but cooperation has its benefits and what you do with others today will have a bigger effect than what you do on your own. Everyone wins.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
This is an important time for you, especially if you have big ambitions. Don't worry if you are still not decided what you should be aiming for in life because the next few days will make it easier to choose.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
At some point today you will realize that many things you have been worrying about are simply not worth the time or the effort. Once you understand that, you will find it easier to focus on what is important.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
If you need to win someone over to your way of thinking, it's time to bombard them with facts that prove your case. You will convince them more easily if there is something financial in it for them.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
You need to make some kind of change to your routine and you need to make it immediately. Astrology is all about time and timing and the time to get started is now — while energy and motivation are high.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
You've enjoyed an easy ride in recent weeks and you know that at some stage you will have to pay for it. That stage will most likely arrive when the Sun changes signs on the 21st.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
You may be confused about your goals but in a matter of days your mind will be clear and the way ahead will be nicely mapped out for you. Listen to, and follow, your heart.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
Let partners and loved ones know what you will and won't put up with. A reason there's been so many arguments of late is that some people have got the impression you can be easily manipulated. SALLY BROMPTON
